Position in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology
School of Social & Policy Studies
Faculty of Social Sciences
Tel Aviv University, Israel

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology and the School of Social and Policy Studies at Tel Aviv University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position to commence on October 1, 2024, contingent on budgetary approval. The position is open for sociologists and anthropologists researching and teaching in the areas of climate change and the environment.

The position includes teaching at the undergraduate and graduate level (both existing and self-developed courses), supervision of graduate students, and pursuing high quality research based on grants received from competitive local and international foundations. The position requires teaching in English and Hebrew. Candidates must be able to teach courses in Hebrew within two years of their appointment.

Candidates must hold a PhD degree or expect to be awarded such degree by June 2024, in the fields of sociology or anthropology. The ideal candidate will show excellence in research and teaching on climate change and the environment, a clear and compelling scholarly agenda, a tendency toward interdisciplinarity, and a demonstrated ability to publish high quality research in top-tier outlets and secure research grants.

Tel Aviv University and the Department of Sociology and Anthropology are committed to academic excellence, as well as to expanding the variety of voices, research methods and traditions and increasing the share of faculty from underrepresented groups.

Applicants should submit the following items:

1. A CV and list of publications.
2. Samples of your best publications (books and articles) or unpublished papers.
3. A letter describing current research and future research plans, teaching interests and methods (2-3 pages).
4. Teaching evaluations (if such exist).
5. Three letters of recommendation addressed to Prof. Alexandra Kalev, Chair, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Tel Aviv University. The letters should be sent by letter writers directly to jobtausoc@tauex.tau.ac.il by April 15, 2024.

All application materials should be emailed as .pdf files, to jobtausoc@tauex.tau.ac.il no later than April 15, 2024.

Notifications or invitations for interviews (job talks) will be sent circa May 23, 2024. Talks will be held in late May and early June.
