

Tel Aviv University Political Science Seminar Speaker Series

Gerald Schneider

University of Konstanz

Counterfactual coercion: could harsher sanctions against Russia have prevented the worst?

Room 527, Naftali Building
Monday, March 27th, 2023
16:15 – 18:00

<https://tau-ac-il.zoom.us/j/8898406343>

Gerald Schneider is Professor of International Politics at the University of Konstanz, Germany, and Executive Editor of European Union Politics. His main areas of research are European Union decision making, the causes and consequences of armed violence, international political economy, as well as bargaining and conflict management. He is currently working on economic sanctions, patterns of administrative inequality in Germany and beyond, and the political and economic impact of financial crises.